PUBLISHED BY THE
Albany Directory Company
Albany, Oregon

J. S. H. MATTHEWS, Compiler

FROM PRESS OF

Publisher's Statement.

The Population of the City of Albany by Actual Count January 1, 1911, was 5,466.

Additions Outside the City, Adjacent, and Receiving City Privileges, 663.

TOTAL POPULATION OF THE CITY 6,129.

ALBANY, the County Seat of Linn County, is beautifully situated on the Willamette River, and on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad 80 miles south of Portland, and in almost the center of the famous Willamette Valley. Nature has provided the location, the climate and the soil. The advance of progress has shown its hand in the substantial business buildings, beautiful residences, Colleges and Schools of modern structure, with able and efficient instructors; modern Churches, of all denominations, Secret and Benevolent Societies, Social and Athletic Clubs, all forming into one group, composing the beautiful HUB CITY of the Willamette Valley. With City Water from a mountain stream, perfect drainage, fine sewer system, all of which tends to health; modern electric light and power, and OCEANS of water power; good hotels, substantial banks, Daily and Weekly papers ably edited, several manufacturing plants, (and room for many more), splendid shipping facilities, both by rail and water, makes an ideal location for a home, and an investment.

ALBANY is surrounded by miles and miles of beautiful farm and fruit lands, now attracting the attention of the investor; Nature does for the fruit grower here, what costs millions of dollars to produce in other fruit growing districts. You don't have to irrigate to get results; and this fact is becoming more generally known each day. The opportunities here offered to the investor are not as yet dreamed of by the people, but in our opinion the day is not far distant when ALBANY will awaken to the fact that she is a City of Many thousand persons, and the old landmarks will be replaced with modern business structures.

This volume of the City Directory is the result of an exhaustive canvass. Our aim has been to give to our many supporters, a Directory which directs. The name of the wife is a new feature for Albany, and is not often seen in publications of this character, but we believe it adds much to the merits of the work. In taking the census of the City we have used great care, and in giving to the public the results of our efforts, we have the figures to show that we are right. The compiler of this Directory will make Albany his home, and will be ever ready to lend a helping hand toward a Greater City.

We take this time to thank our patrons for their support, and two years hence we will publish another Directory, up to date and as correct as a work of this kind can be made.
